Editorial-- What's The Big Secret?

By Darrell Cable

For months now we have waited on information or a press release on the prison that is being looked at for Lindsay.

All we are being told is "We don't know anything" by council members and the city manager. My question is "When will we know?"

The only thing that comes out of keeping a project as big as a prison swept under the rug is "what are you trying to hide?"

It seems to me that it is very important to keep the people informed of anything that is being looked at for Lindsay. Especially anything this huge.

We need to know the positives as well as the negatives in something that affects our town.

I know there are some positives or the local council would not be looking at helping such a facility locate here.

Let us hear the facts and then let the people decide whether they want a prison located here or not.

Lindsay is too small of a town to try and keep something like this quiet. As soon as one person knows anything, everyone in town knows. It's just that simple. You will not be able to make this happen without the support of the community.

I encourage our local leaders to issue a statement letting the people know what is going on.

Help Now Available For High Prescription Drug Charges

Oklahomans struggling with the high cost of prescription medications may be able to find help through two programs, RX for Oklahoma and the new OklahomaRx Discount Card.

The programs are funded by the Oklahoma Department of Commerce in partnership with the Oklahoma Health Care Authority. They were created as part of an effort by Governor Brad Henry to improve the health of Oklahomans by making sure all residents can afford their prescriptions.

"These programs will help ensure quality, affordable health care for some of the neediest Oklahomans," Gov. Brad Henry said. "The costs of prescription drugs have skyrocketed in recent years, and so it is more important than ever that eligible citizen's look into strategies such as the OklahomaRx Discount Card and RX for Oklahoma. No one should be forced to sacrifice good health because of exorbitant drug prices."

The RX for Oklahoma program is a free service that helps low-income residents access prescription assistance programs provided by pharmaceutical manufacturing companies. Since the inception of the program in December 2005, more than 15,000 people across the state have been helped.

Staff of the program provides assistance in completing applications and submitting the proper documentation to the pharmaceutical companies. The process takes about a month, so only long-term medications qualify for this program.

RX for Oklahoma also provides enrollment assistance and advice for the OklahomaRx Discount Card.

Oklahoma residents, regardless of age, who are uninsured or under-insured are encouraged to apply. For additional information about the RX for Oklahoma program, please call 1-877-RX4-OKLA (1-877-794-6552) or visit www.RX4OKLA.com.

The OklahomaRx Discount Card is available to all residents of the state. Individuals who do not have health insurance with prescription drug coverage or those who have insurance but regularly exceed their maximum yearly benefit for prescription drugs will realize the greatest savings.

Under the program, discounts range from 10 percent to 55 percent, depending on the drugs and where they are purchased. Generic drugs will save consumers the most money. More than 570 pharmacies in Oklahoma are participating in the program, including most major retailers.

INSTANT COMMUNICATIONS PART I

We live in an age of instant communication. Modern electronic devices allow us to communicate instantly by voice, print, and picture. With the click of a button or the pressing of a few keys, we can talk to another person anywhere on the earth or send a printed message or a picture to anyone in any location on the globe. Text messaging allows us to carry on a kind of verbal shorthand conversation almost as rapidly as we talk. These marvels of communication are wonderful in their own way, but they also pose some unique problems.

In the days of my youth, the telephone was a modern wonder. Not every family had a telephone. People who did have a telephone used it very differently from the way we use telephones today. First, the phones in my youth were fastened to the wall. It was necessary to stand while you talked. Long conversations resulted in tired legs. And, of course, no one could talk lying down or sitting in a recliner (if there had been any) as people do today. You stood where the phone was. The phone could not go with you to another room, the bathroom, or out into the yard as it does today.

Using the phone in those far away days was almost a ceremonial event. A phone call was important, even if the caller only wanted to chat. And there was only one phone in a house. I was thirty-five years old before we had more than one phone in our house. Now we have five phones in our house, three of which are cordless phones that can be carried from room to room or out into the yard. My wife and I also have cell phones, which we carry at all times in our house or in our cars. She can call me downstairs when I am in my study, and I can call her when we get separated in large stores or malls.

Even my teenage grandchildren, Christopher and LaurieBeth, have their own Krazer cell phones which are smaller than the palm of your hand. Sometimes LaurieBeth and her friends send more than a hundred text messages in a single day. My nine-year-old grandson, Walker, has begun to campaign to get his own cell phone. He has not been successful yet, but it probably will not be long. Perhaps he should have one for safety reasons.

As an English teacher, I am concerned with communication and its effect on language and writing. We practice spoken language more than ever before, but perhaps we are more careless with correctness in grammar and usage. I am particularly concerned with the effect of "text messaging" on spelling. Our desire for instant communication has produced a kind of text language that nearly totally ignores spelling. Although I know little about text messaging, what I do know concerns me.

Text messaging seems to be based on sounds. The word "you" becomes "u." The word "are" becomes "r." The number 2 can replace either "to," "too," or "two." There is little or no punctuation. And the comma, my favorite mark of punctuation, is grossly misused and abused. Recently I saw a chart of the standard symbols used in text messaging. It looked like a foreign language. I even see signs of this text messaging creeping into the formal writing of my college English composition students.

Our desire for instant communication has nearly eliminated the classic art of letter writing. The collected letters of famous people from the past provide a rich reading experience. In the past, famous people wrote in their own handwriting thousands of letters in their lives, recording their thoughts, fears, dreams, and experiences. Harry Truman, Theodore Roosevelt, Thomas Jefferson, Lord Byron, Winston Churchill, and F. Scott Fitzgerald are just a few of the great letter writers in history and literature. In the past, letter writing was so popular that some novelists wrote complete novels in the form of a series of letters. These novels were called epistolary novels. They were most popular in the 1700s. Perhaps the most popular epistolary novel was Samuel Richardson's Pamela, the story of a pursued servant girl who writes home about her mounting troubles. Even some modern novels employ letters to develop the plot.

Not long ago, I was talking on the phone to the most intelligent student I have taught in all my career. She was a high school student of mine at Burbank, Oklahoma. Now she is an English teacher in California. She had sent me a long e-mail, which was remarkable for both its style and content. We began to talk about the dying, or perhaps dead, art of letter writing. In her wry humor, she wondered if we would ever see "The Collected E-mails" of some of our famous people today.

Cell phones and e-mails are some manifestations of our need for instant communications. With the rapid advancement of electronic technology, for those of us who still value the traditional modes of communication, it is frightening to think what lies ahead.

For those whose household incomes fall below 150 percent of the FPL, the membership fee will be paid by the state. ## News from the State Capitol

An Update from State Rep. Lisa Billy

Greetings to our New Year! It seems 2007 has already slipped by and 2008 has made its debut. Now is the time to continue building upon last year's ideas while bringing a renewed focus to government accountability, along with policies to help working families which will improve our state's quality of life.

In 2007, the House of Representatives offered Oklahoma the Year of Ideas agenda. I worked across party lines to expand opportunity and optimism in our state. The Year of Ideas - 100ideas.com - was one filled with the pioneer spirit and innovative ideas for Oklahoma's future. Oklahomans from various backgrounds went to work in our centennial year to make our state successful.

I am very thankful to the many of you who attended the 100 Ideas meetings in our House district and provided countless volunteer hours in creating historical centennial events.

The past three years the Oklahoma legislature has taken major strides forward in pro-family reforms, reforms to increase job opportunities and making record investments in education and transportation. We passed a guaranteed tuition rate plan option for college students and a permanent fix for the teacher retirement system. I am also very excited that a new government accountability reform bill passed. We now have a new open book web site "Google Government" to track how tax dollars are spent and we scrapped nearly 20 outdated state task forces and boards.

Now, as we enter the dawn of 2008 it is time to harness the energy and enthusiasm generated last year. It's time to move forward with solutions. I hope you will continue to call my office and email your suggestions, complaints and concerns.

Hostess, Joyce Webb, read the Bible verse. Pat Geddes did the flag salute and Dorene Somers read the quote. Carol Kelley did the tips and bits.

Dorene Somers read the minutes of the last meeting and asked for additions or corrections.

It was a success, all worked and it was nice.

Hostess Joyce Webb brought the program on "South of the Border Cooking". There were many good ideas and a nice cookbook. The recipes sounded very good, so it was a fun thing.

Our hostess also served cake and drinks. The next meeting will be Wednesday, February 6. It will not be on Tuesday due to it being voting day.

The hostess gift was won by Pat Geddes.

The meeting was adjourned to meet February 6 at the Library at 9:30 a.m.

New business handled was the group paying dues for the new year and it was decided the club would meet for lunch the third Tuesday of each month at 12:30 p.m. The place they will meet for lunch would be decided later by the social director.

The new officers elected were Joy Everett, president; Carrie Schwartz, vice-president; Lois Knapp, secretary/reporter; Helen Cox, treasurer; Thelma Love, song leader; Betty White, devotional leader; Fannie Stansbury and Wanda Reeves, social directors; and Emma Cantrell and Wanda Reeves, callers.

When the boys gave him their marble he would tell them it was the wrong color and he would give them the food and tell them to bring a red marble next time, but each time, it was always the wrong color. He always gave them the food and said next time bring another red marble.

After many years the three boys grew up and the store keeper passed away.

Five Questions to Ask Yourself When You Near Retirement

Whenever you see people enjoying a comfortable retirement - traveling, volunteering, pursuing hobbies, taking up a new career - you can be pretty sure it all didn't happen by accident. In fact, success at retirement is similar to success in just about any endeavor - you have to plan for it.

Of course, your planning could take many different forms. But, as you get close to retirement, you might find it easier to organize your efforts if you ask yourself these five key questions:

Where am I today? Shortly before you retire, make a detailed list of your financial assets, such as your bank accounts, investments, IRA, 401(k), etc. You may want to consider consolidating as many of these accounts as you can with just one company. This consolidation will help you get a clearer picture of your overall situation, and it may even help you reduce maintenance fees and make it easier to calculate required minimum distributions (RMDs) you might have to take once you reach 70-1/2. On the "flip side," you'll want to list out all your obligations - mortgages, home equity credit lines, car loans and other debts.

How much will I need to enjoy the retirement lifestyle I've envisioned? You'll probably need between 80 percent and 100 percent of your pre-retirement income to maintain your standard of living in retirement. But this is a general rule; your actual needs will depend on what you want to do during retirement. So, if you want to travel extensively, you might need more income than if you chose to stay close to home, volunteering and pursuing hobbies. In any case, try to estimate your annual expenses during retirement, knowing that your plans may change later.

How much can I withdraw each year? Your investment portfolio is likely to account for a good percentage of your retirement income. Consequently, you'll want to work with your financial advisor to determine how much you can take out each year without running out of money. The percentage you withdraw each year will depend on several factors, including your portfolio's rate of return, the age at which you start taking Social Security and the size of the distributions from your 401(k) or other employer-sponsored retirement plan.

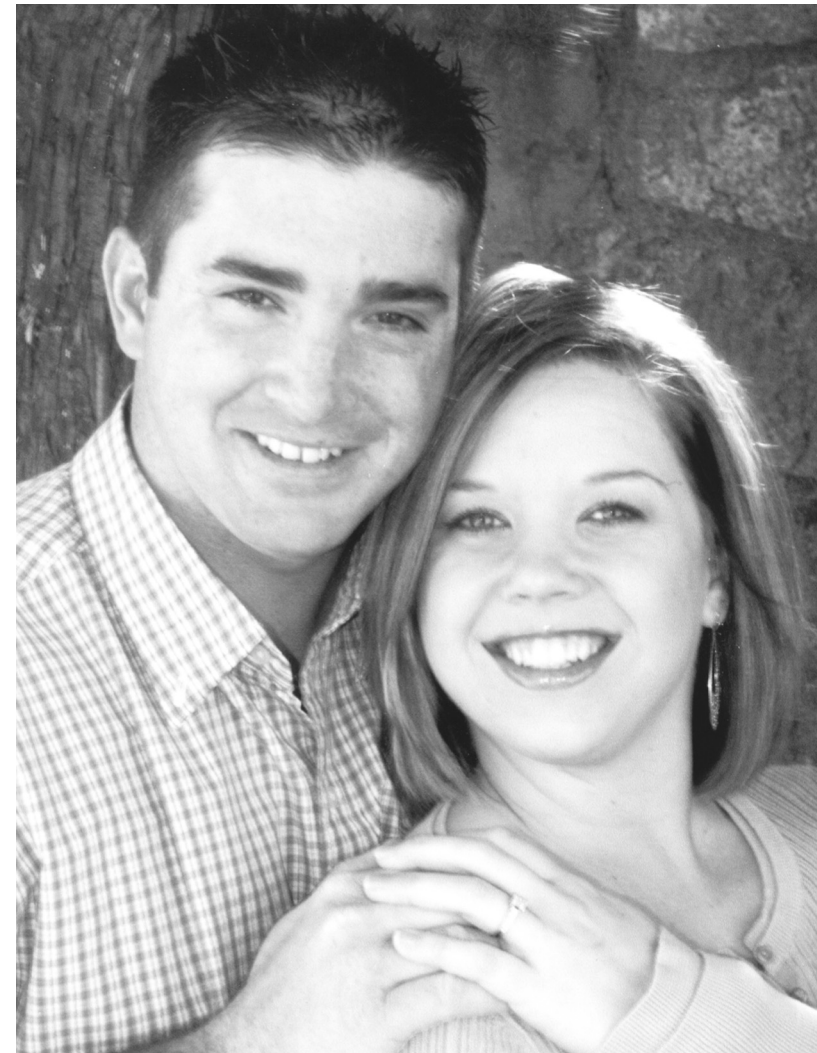

What portfolio and lifestyle adjustments do I need to make? Once you've determined how much you can realistically withdraw each year, you may need to rebalance your investments to get the right proportion of equities and fixed income. You also might need to look beyond your portfolio to see what lifestyle changes you may need to make. For example, you may decide that you wouldn't mind working for an additional year or so to take some of the pressure off your investments as an income source.

How can I stay on course? Over time, your goals, health or income needs may change, so you might have to update your withdrawal and investment strategies. At this stage of your life, you'll want to review your situation with your financial advisor at least once a year.

By asking yourself these questions - and then answering them - you can go a long way toward enjoying the retirement you deserve.

Tall Tales

by Doyle Greteman

Superintendent, Lindsay Schools

groups on one plate, I have never seen the man with a bottle of rolaids, tums, or anything of the kind. In fact, Cast-iron Charlie, or "The Music Man," as one of his adoring fans called him last week, actually seems to thrive on this diet.

We realize that these habits have developed over the last several decades by visiting hospitality rooms all around the country. We're afraid the pattern is irreversible. But, we do not want the music to die! This man needs fuel! Bring on the cookies, fudge, sausage, chips, the peanut brittle, and don't forget the baby ruth!

In all seriousness, we realize that we are very blessed to have Charlie Heatly in our lives. Last weekend, even though he wasn't feeling well, he dragged himself up to the gym three consecutive days, and never missed a game. That's 24 games in three days! His presence speaks loudly, as he is well-respected far and wide not only in Oklahoma, but around the country.

Lindsay basketball is tradition-rich, largely due to the influence of this man. His record as a coach speaks for itself. There are few others in the history of Oklahoma girls basketball who could hold a candle to him.

It's an appropriate time to pause and send out a hearty "thank you" to the man who made the history, and now makes the music that keeps the history alive. Charles K. Heatly.....truly one of a kind.....

Glencoe FFA Eighth Grade Leadership Conference Held

"My FFA Senses are Tingling" was the theme of this year's Glencoe FFA Eighth Grade Leadership Conference. The conference was held January 8, 2008 at the Stillwater Expo Center. The Lindsay FFA chapter was proudly represented by Kelsey Cox, Steven Farr, Tiffany Hines, Cody Somers, Raven Somers, Seth Cleary, Rae'Anna Hughes, Aaron Vinson, Sierra Smith, Trent Cleary, Ariel McKenzie, Ethan Slay, Logan Gregory and Russell Davis.

learned how to be the problem solver, not the problem maker," said Ariel McKenzie.

During the conference, members played games that taught them how to encourage others to do their best and never give up and they sang silly songs that taught them to how to overcome fears of meeting new people. Rae'Anna Hughes said "Most importantly, I learned that leadership is stepping up when others don't want to and having the courage to become the leader."

The Lindsay FFA chapter was proudly represented by Kelsey Cox, Steven Farr, Tiffany Hines, Cody Somers, Raven Somers, Seth Cleary, Rae'Anna Hughes, Aaron Vinson, Sierra Smith, Trent Cleary, Ariel McKenzie, Ethan Slay, Logan Gregory and Russell Davis. The group is pictured above at the Leadership Conference that was held for the eighth grade members of the FFA in Lindsay.

When asked what they learned at the conference, the FFA members continuously commented on how much fun they had learning about becoming a stronger leader in their community. Seth Cleary said "I learned that we are all born leaders that have strengths in certain places and by being in the right crowd and choosing the right friends to be around brings out the leader within us."

The conference covered topics of leadership that consisted of problem solving, building trust and working together as a chapter to reach common goals. "We

FFA And Jason Meadows Raising Money For HUGS

Country recording star Jason Meadows is on a mission—a HUGSS (Helping Unite Gold Star Survivors) mission—to help support the families of fallen service men and women. He's teaming with Oklahoma FFA chapters to launch a fundraising campaign to benefit HUGSS. Meadows and Baccerstick Records have helped to create a fundraising competition among his home state's FFA chapters in hopes that the competition will raise funds and awareness for HUGSS and then spread to other states across the country.

helped shape my life and my values including a sense of community, consideration, and compassion. This fundraising contest is a way for kids to help kids."

There are no limits to the type of fundraisers that chapters can host. "That means, washing cars, mowing lawns, plowing fields, selling sausage, hauling hay, or whatever the creative minds of the FFA's members dream up," adds Meadows. "This is about making a difference in the lives of these military families and having some fun doing it."

Members of the Oklahoma FFA chapter which raises the most money for HUGSS will be featured singing with Meadows on "FFA," a song written and recorded by Meadows and an obvious candidate for becoming the FFA's national anthem. The song will then be made available through a variety of digital service providers including iTunes, with a portion of the proceeds going to HUGSS. To listen to the song, visit HYPERLINK "http://www.jasonmeadows.com" and look for the "click" option.

According to statistics, there have been more than 4,000 fathers, mothers, sons and daughters that have lost their lives in Afghanistan and Iraq. As a result, more than 2,000 children have been left without a parent.

"The song is really cool! I'm sure our FFA members are going to love it," says Austin Akins, State FFA President. "Jason was a model FFA member and we're very proud of him."

"I was a very active member of the FFA growing up," says Meadows. "My ag [agriculture] teacher was one of my strongest mentors and greatest influences. He was responsible for my participation in the FFA. He and the organization

"Helping him raise funds for this important cause is something we're very pleased to be a part of. We'll expect to culminate the fund drive at our 82nd state FFA convention, April 29-30, 2008."

HUGSS provides extended care for Gold Star families beyond what the care teams and casualty assistance officers can offer, including acting as the Gold Star family's voice when needed, and offering special resources, support groups, and programs for adults, teens and children, among other services.

The Gold Star Support Center was established at the Ft. Hood, Texas military base to create programs to address the needs of all families who suffer the loss of a soldier. ## PRIVATE PRISONS: GET THE FACTS, NOT THE FICTION

“The (private) prison has been a total bust. But no one will tell you that. They want you to think it's been a boon for the city. Frankly, I'd rather have a hog farm. What has the prison done for us? I'd say halve the property value in this town. Real estate prices have plummeted.”

Sayre, OK, City Councilman William Dean

“A recent comparison of serious incidents in the public and private prisons in Oklahoma shows a far more shocking disparity. Oklahoma Department of Corrections data indicate that there are 190 percent more serious incidents in private prisons in that state.”

(“Will the Federal Government Rescue the Private Prison Industry?” Judy Greene, 1/10/01.)

FACTS Escapes: The legislative department of the California Correctional Peace Officer's Association tracked escapes from secure facilities in California between 1995 and 2004 and compared them with escapes from private prisons during the same period. Approximately 150,000 inmates are housed in secure facilities in California. The privateers housed approximately 90,000 inmates nationwide during this time. The results: Escapes from the California DOC 12, escapes from “secure” private prisons 319. The CDCOC had a ratio of 1 escape for every 12,500 inmates. For the privateers the ratio is 1 escape per every 439 inmates. And where do they escape to? YOUR COMMUNITY!

◆ Economic Boon: Is this what you want in your community?

“The rate of increase in the number of new businesses, non-agricultural employment, average household wages, retail sales, median value of owner occupied housing, and the total number of housing units is substantially less in new prison versus non-prison towns.”

(Margaret Hanson and Terry Besser (tbesser@iastate.edu 515-294-6508) Iowa State University Department of Sociology, Rural Sociological Society Meeting in August of 2003.)

Is this what you want Lindsay to become? Do you want out-of-state inmates and their families in your town? Do you want Lindsay to be known forever as a “Prison Town”?

Call Mayor Todd Hinckley 756-2019, City Manager Bill Mitchell 756-2019, Representative Lisa Billy 557-7365, and Senator Susan Paddock 521-5541, and ask them to stop this. The tranquility of Lindsay, and the safety of the children and this community are not for sale!

Turn off the highway and let's go down the Wallville Road. Now, this is a fact with my hand up or as the legend goes as told me by an old Indian friend. Around the turn of the 20th Century and as early as 1898, Wallville, I.T. (that's Indian Territory for all you youngens). Wallville supported a Dr. J. C. Isabell. This information we learned by way of the Pauls Valley D.D. and that's neither doctor or dental, but the Daily Democrat Newspaper. Well, it seems good ol' Dr. Isabell was your picture of an old west country doctor. He wasn't past making house calls to see a sick patient or maybe someone's horse that was just about past going. Often he could be seen in his hack (buggy) being pulled by a faithful mule team crossing Rush Creek at some low water crossing going back into the Table Top Mountains on a mission of mercy. His pay when there was such was a frying size chicken, hen eggs, or hog killings, you know what I mean. Well, this particular day Doc Isabell was visited in his Wallville practice by a local yokel with symptoms of pneumonia. After a thorough examination and a couple of good doses of syrup of black dought, the good doctor began to inquire about the health of the man's wife and that there is the rest of the story from Down the Wallville Road.

I'm back in the saddle again, out through a friend is a friend. Greetings from Wallville and the home of the tumbling tumbleweeds and for the time being Al Hunt with Legend #793.

Direct from the pages of old Al's Almanac, pneumonia is not new and takes a lot of old remedies to battle it.

The Wallville Holiness Church enjoyed the preaching of Brother Marvin Dodson January 12 and 13. Ken Burch, Heather Dodson, Sherrie Dodson, Raymond and Kathryn Cottrell, and the Matt Hunt family all visited that weekend.

Congratulations to Autumn Parker and Jarred Work on their wedding January 19 at the Lindsay Assembly of God. Autumn is the daughter of Tim and Anita Parker of Hughes and Jarred is the son of Cpt. Stanley Work of Maine.

The Wallville Veteran's Committee salutes the memory of Ora and Buck Bunch who had five sons serve during World War II. Four in the Navy, one in the Army with Donald Bunch winning two Bronze Stars for his service. He made every major campaign in the Pacific beginning with the New Guinea invasion.

Carolyn Lewis, top gun for the Hughes Alumni committee, Hughes graduate of 1962. Reported in that she also had learned that Hughes teacher Wendell White had passed away 3 years ago. Thanks for thinking about us cuz.

Birthday parties January 18 through January 31. Chad Work on the 18, Emily Frost, Doretha Fisher, Trevor Quinn share the 19, Marquita Simmons January 21, Gemey Nell Lackey on the 22, Norma Ramsey, Diane Perry, Brooke Hutson, Nolan Dacus share the 23, Sophie Dacus on the 21, Earl Cunningham keeps trucking on the 25, Charlotte Pigg, Betty Jean Wallace party on the 26, Debbie Boxley and Dillon Donaho party on the 28. Miss Checotah Lovelace b-day is the 26 and Amy White and Archie Hassler party it up on the 29.

The Hughes teacher research committee finds William Friston was the first superintendent at Huges from 1919-??, earning a cool $200 a month. During that time, Julia Robertson, Geraldine Garrison, and Carol O'Neal taught for $110 a month with Elnora West earning $100 a month.

Winner of the roses, Joe and Allene Lindsey celebrating 60 years of wedded bliss this January 18. A great congratulations to these fine folks.

Top of the morning to Edward and Reba Searcy celebrating 58 anniversaries together this January 25. Have a great day.

53 years later Joe and Veda Dodson are still celebrating January 28 as their anniversary. Here, there, and everywhere, In-laws of the Owl Man.

January 21 make 24 anniversaries for Dale and Kim Waite of Lindsay and the Owl Patch. Here's hoping they have many more.

Bob and Ann Pratt celebrated anniversary number 9 this January 21. Hope they have a great day this was reported to the Owl Man personally.

Happy anniversary Crystal and Andrew Perry January 21 makes 8 big ones. The parents of Jeremiah and Andrea.

Hats off to the Hunt family who rushed our hero to the VA-ER January 15 despite all his resistance, it's nice to be liked.

Our hearts go out to the Mary Harmon family at the loss of husband of 62 years, Buddy Harmon (81). He passed away January 1, 2008. A Veteran and member of the American Legion. He attended school at Hughes, Crawford, and Lindsay. He will surely be missed.

What's happening over your way, don't be shy, share it with this guy. Call 405-207-3268 or 207-1691 or you can take pen in hand and write RR 3 Box 222-A, Pauls Valley, 73075. Pencil, magic marker, or crayon will do. Thanks in advance.

The Owl Man, graduate of Hughes High School, salutes Doyle Greteman for seeing the futility in increasing the school year at the cost of $127 million a year. Our suggestion would be shorten the school year and give the top 100 students a million dollars a piece, you would save $27 million dollars and students would be challenged to excel and less dropout ratio.

Visiting in the Owl Man's home recently has been Bruce Mayhan, Trinity Jones, Trish, Joe Ince, Tyler and Zack, Dallas Pope, and our own McKenzie Rae Hunt and Sierra Hunt.

The Wallvill Church enjoyed a good youth rally January 19. A good crowd was on hand to hear good preaching from Johnny Hunt, Timothy Hunt, and Brother Russell Bell. Pastors Joe Ince and Matthew Hunt were in attendance.

The Wallville Holiness Church enjoyed a visit from Preacher Brother Bradley Mayhan, wife Cassare, and son Silas, January 20, enjoying their preaching and fellowship.

Wally the Wonderful Wallville weather hog reports rain, snow, cold, freezing temps, low in the minus, highs in 30's and low 40's has been sweeping Wallville and Hughes and every nook and cranny of Oklahoma the past week, it feels like January.

It's a grand old flag, forever may it wave over Wallville. Keep stroking the fires and tell them

The First National Bank & Trust Co.
"Your Financial Star since 1892"

Dear Friends,

The First National Bank and Trust Company Visa Check Card is a safe, convenient and easy way to pay for purchases this year. And now you'll earn a little extra spending money each time you use it. We'll pay you 25 cents each time you use your First National Bank & Trust Company VISA Check Card to make a purchase during the month of FEBRUARY 2008.

Use it for purchases anywhere Visa Debit cards are accepted.

Just use your card to gas up the car, pay for dry cleaning, buy groceries, clothes - anything! Use it anywhere that accepts Visa debit cards. The First National Bank & Trust Company will pay you 25 cents each time you use it and the total award will be posted to your account in the month of March 2008.

Be sure to press "credit" - not "debit".

Remember, when you make a purchase with your card, just hand your card to the clerk, sign for the purchase and take your receipt. There is no PIN to enter. If you swipe the card yourself and must choose the "debit" or "credit" key, always select the "credit" key. This will send the transaction to Visa for processing. If you choose "debit" the transaction will be denied. The total purchase amount will be reflected on your regular checking account statement.

It's an ATM card, too!

The First National Bank Visa Check Card is also an ATM card. You can use it to make cash withdrawals, deposits, transfers, and balance inquiries at TransFund and Cirrus ATMs everywhere.

If you have questions about the First National Bank's Visa Check card or would like to get your card today, please contact your friends at the First National Bank and Trust Company in Chickasha, Alex, Tuttle, Rush Springs, Blanchard, Cyril, Newcastle, and Minco.

Sincerely,
Walt Voss
President/CEO

If a man without a sense of smell declared that this yellow rose I hold had no scent, we should know that he was wrong. The defect is in him, not in the flower. It is the same with a man who says there is no God. It merely means that he is without the capacity to discern his presence.

OBITUARY

Mary Patricia Seabourn

Mary Patricia Seabourn went home with the Lord January 13, 2008 at the age of 73. She was born on February 14, 1934 in Springville, NY to Joseph Raymond and Dorothy Rose Hogan. She had two brothers Joey and Robert (Robin). She loved to go ice-skating on the frozen lakes of New York as a child and later lived in Louisiana and Oklahoma before settling in New Mexico. Many people said that living in these different places developed her unique accent.

Mary graduated from Hobbs High School in 1952. She met and married Joseph Thornton Seabourn there January 10, 1953. They had five children together in their 32 years of marriage. Her family moved to Lindsay in 1968. She stayed at home with her kids Joe D, Jack, Jim, Janelle, and Jeannine for most of their childhoods. She went back to work in 1985 after she and Joe T. divorced. She worked at Lindsay Gas n Go for many years. Her last job outside of the home was at Chic-fil-a in Norman. She really enjoyed working there and visiting with all the customers. Mary quit working there in June 2003 when she suffered a stroke.

Mary was so much fun. She loved playing games and watching old movies. But, her greatest love and legacy was her children and grandchildren. Her children gave her more kids through marriage. Beth, Kelly, Jeff, and Monty all became her kids too. She was blessed with 10 loved grandkids: Joe's boys Joe and Don; Jack's girls Lexie and Rosie; Janelle's kids Steve, Kurt, Savanna and Delaney; and Jeannine's girls Jenna and Macy. She also gained a great granddaughter named Aniston. She was her grandkids #1 fan and went to all their games and school events. After delivering 5 Cherokee Nation members, her kids made her an honorary member.

She was preceded in death by her parents, Joe and Dorothy; brothers Joey and Robin; son Jimmy and a child she lost during pregnancy.

Mary was very witty and didn't know a stranger. She could and would talk to anyone she met and was a joy to be around. She was incredibly generous and was so giving to her family and others. If she had it to give, it was yours. She was incredibly strong mentally and physically. The stroke she suffered in 2003 left her paralyzed on her left side (she was left handed). She worked hard and conquered this disability and was walking again in a few months. Unfortunately, she wasn't able to go back to work and she was upset about retiring. She suffered another stroke in June of 2007. It again attacked her left side and she wasn't able to bounce back the second time around. But, she never gave up and was convinced she would walk again one day. Her Irish, fighting spirit continued when she was diagnosed with cancer in December. She was determined that it would not get the best of her and it did not. Her beautiful, graceful spirit held on until Jesus came to get her as she was surrounded by all of her children. She will be greatly missed.

Services for Mary were January 18, 2008 at 2 p.m. at the First Baptist Church in Lindsay, OK. Interment was at the Green Hill Cemetery. Funeral arrangements are under the direction of B. G. Boydston Funeral Home in Lindsay, Oklahoma. Condolences may be sent to the family on line at www.boydstonfuneralhome.com.

Q&A

Are Internet-only notices sufficient?

No. While the Internet is clearly a useful resource, Web sites should not be used as the sole source of public notice.

Web sites, whether controlled by a government body or a private firm, are not independent, archived, readily available or independently verified.

A newspaper public notice, combined with a newspaper posting notices on a Web site, fulfills all of those standards.
