Join Lindsay's Relay For Life Celebration To Help Raise Money For Cancer Research

The Lindsay Relay For Life will be held June 27 and 28 at the Lindsay School's bus parking lot. The goal for the annual event is $87,000 for cancer research. The Relay For Life theme this year is Celebrate.

Relay For Life is a unique fundraising event that allows participants from all walks of life-including patients, medical support staff, corporation, civic organizations, churches, and community volunteers-to join together to fight cancer. Relay For Life reminds us that progress has been made in the fight against cancer and that everyone who participates is making a difference.

Relay For Life opens as cancer survivors (anyone who has ever been diagnosed with cancer) walk or use a wheelchair to complete the first lap. This is an emotional time that sets the stage of the importance of each participant's contribution. A festive atmosphere develops around the track.

As walkers make new friends and spend time with old ones, the Relay heats up and the camp out begins. An atmosphere of camaraderie is created with team members entertaining each other: eating, playing games, and of course, walking for a great cause.

Highlighting the evening is the luminaria ceremony held after dark to honor those we have lost. The luminaries line the track and are left burning throughout the night to remind participants of the importance of their efforts. Luminaries also honor the community's cancer survivors and those lost to the disease.

Several teams have signed up to raise money to fight cancer. The teams will be selling items on site to raise money and have made baskets and donated large ticket items to be auctioned at the event.

On site fundraisers include sno cones, coffee and frito pies, hamburgers, nachos, candy, and root beer, lemonade and flashing glasses, t-shirts, and the police department will have a mock jail on sight.

Items that will be auctioned off include a quilt made of Relay For Life t-shirts by Pat Martin, a beautiful antique handpainted milk can painted by Helen Eubank, OU and OSU benches donated by the Lion's Club team and an OU football signed by Heisman trophy winner Jason White. The Lindsay Police Department auction basket includes two person, one day hunt (courtesy of Foreman Water Fowl), one free boar hunt for one person (courtesy of Southwest Quail), two person one day hunt (courtesy of Boar Ridge), and four rounds of 100 target round sporting clays (courtesy of Quail Ridge) and one $40 gift card courtesy of Wal Mart.

To donate any items to the auction please contact Barbara Russell at 756-6087. She also encourages everyone to come join in the fun which will start at approximately 8 p.m.

Law Center Offering Free Seminar

The University of Oklahoma Law Center will offer a free orientation seminar for people interested in a career as a paralegal. The seminar, sponsored by the Department of Legal Assistant Education, will be held Saturday, August 23, 2008, from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. at the OU Law Center, 300 Timberdell Road in Norman. Speakers will include instructors and graduates of the OU legal assistant program and representatives of professional paralegal organizations.

The OU Department of Legal Assistant Education is now enrolling students for classes that begin in August, 2008. The courses are designed to train individuals as paralegals for careers in private, corporate, and government law-related activities.

"Legal assistants, or paralegals, work with attorneys to provide legal services to clients," said David A. Poarch, director of the department and assistant dean of the OU College of Law. "Economic surveys indicate that the demand for paralegals will continue to increase. Many of our students already work in the legal field and want more training. Others are seeking to begin new careers in law."

Classes are offered on Saturdays at the OU Law Center in order to allow students to continue working while studying for their certificate. The classes are taught by lawyers, law professors, and legal assistants who specialize in various areas of law. Completion of the OU legal assistant education program, which has been approved by the American Bar Association since 1986, will provide the skills necessary to perform a variety of law-related tasks, including legal research, and drafting legal documents.

Additional information on enrollment is available from the Department of Legal Assistant Education, 300 Timberdell Road, Room 314, Norman, OK 73019-5081; telephone 405-325-1726; e-mail lae@hamilton.law.ou.edu.

The basket above will be auctioned off at Relay For Life Friday. In the basket are two dips, a lace scarf, a cross, a love plaque, a hot pad, a jewelry box, a candle, a simmer pot, a cup and saucer set, a votive candle holder, a set of note cards, a battery candle, a picture frame, a believe plaque, and a cashew grizzly. To buy the basket be at Relay at approximately 8 p.m.

TIM RUSSERT A MAN FOR ALL SEASONS

When Tim Russert died on Friday, June 13, he was at the top of his profession. As the moderator of "Meet the Press," he set the standard for political interviews. As the NBC political analyst, he earned the trust of millions of viewers. As the election night anchor, he was the final voice that viewers awaited to determine who were the winners at the polls. As the NBC Washington Bureau Chief, he assembled a staff that overshadowed the other networks. When he died suddenly at work, he left a vacancy that no one person can ever fill.

But Tim Russert was much more than an outstanding journalist. Even more importantly than his professional accomplishments, he was a devoted son, a dedicated father, and a loving husband. In spite of his hectic schedule, which sometimes began at 7 a.m. and ended at midnight, he found time to nurture all of those around him, from his elderly father, to his teenage son, to his wife, who also is an accomplished writer, and on to his many colleagues, who admired and loved him. He also found time to write two best-selling books, one of which beautifully illustrated his love for his father and his loyalty to his hometown of Buffalo, New York, and his pride in his small town, blue collar roots. His first book, Big

Russ and Me, is a moving tribute to his father, who worked two jobs all of his career to provide for his family. Russert celebrates his father's selfless dedication to his children and his strong values that shaped his children's characters as they grew up. While the book is certainly an impressive portrait of his father, it is also a profile of Tim Russert himself. It shows his strong work ethic, his love for his father and his own family, his firm personal values, and his loyalty to his roots. We see a picture of Tim Russert which perfectly illustrates why so many people, the famous and the common, respected and loved him. In the many tributes to Tim Russert which were broadcast and published in the days following his death, there emerged a picture of a man who was truly a man for all seasons.

As a book reviewer, I have been impressed by both of Russert's books. I have reviewed Big Russ and Me several times. Audiences love this tribute to his father. I recently purchased Wisdom of Our Fathers for both of my sons. Both of these books were on the New York Times best seller list.

As a devout Roman Catholic, Tim Russert attended Jesuit schools where the teachers demanded discipline and scholarship. The rigorous Jesuit education prepared him well for his college work at another Catholic school, John Carroll University in Cleveland. His years in college fostered his interest in journalism and politics. After graduating from John Carroll University, he earned a law degree from Cleveland-Marshall College of Law. All of this prepared him for his work as a staff member for Senator Daniel Moynihan of New York. There he formed his career in journalism and politics. This background led him to his career at NBC News, where he rapidly climbed to the top of his profession.

Even though Tim Russert was a famous television personality, he never forgot what mattered most in life. He adored his father, whom he called Big Russ. He always paid tribute to his father's years when he worked for the Buffalo sanitation department by day and delivered bundles of newspapers by night to raise his family. He was an avid Buffalo Bills fan. He drank Rolling Rock beer, ate buffalo wings, and listened to Bruce Springsteen music. Above all things, he loved his son, Luke, who had graduated from Boston College only a few days before his father's death. Luke's eulogy for his father was the most moving tribute among the hundreds of tributes paid to Tim Russert. At Tim Russert's funeral, following moving tributes by Tom Brokaw, Mario Cuomo, Maria Shriver, and Doris Kearns Goodwin, Luke Russert, only twenty-two, eulogized his father as a father, friend, husband, son, and journalist. After his loving tribute to his father, Luke Russert ended his eulogy by saying that if his father were there, he would say the words that he always said at the end of a conversation: "Go get 'em!" The audience stood and applauded.

Tim Russert will be missed in many ways. We will miss his hearty laugh, his probing questions, his astute commentary, and his sheer love of covering politics. We will miss his election night coverage in November. We will miss his "Meet the Press" interviews.

NBC News will go on. Tom Brokaw will anchor "Meet The Press" for the remainder of this year. David Gregory, Keith Olderman, Ann Curry, and others will carry on with the reporting. Eventually, a replacement will be named to be Washington Bureau Chief. But no one person can replace this large Irishman with the round face, the loud laugh, and the sheer love for life that were trademarks of Tim Russert.

Gene Autry Music Festival To Be Held

Western and country entertainers, Western film stars, authors and cowboy poets highlight this year's Gene Autry Oklahoma Film & Music Festival, held September 24-28 at the Gene Autry Oklahoma Museum.

Advance tickets are now on sale for this event that put the tiny town of Gene Autry, Oklahoma, on the map. It's located about 12 miles northeast of Ardmore, just east of Interstate 35. The town took its name from film star Gene Autry, who owned a ranch there in the 1930s and '40s.

Country superstar Gene Watson, whose hits include "Paper Rosie" and "Farewell Party," heads a strong list of headline performers that includes Les Gilliam, the Oklahoma Balladeer; Johnny Western, who played for both Gene Autry and Johnny Cash; and Eli Barsi, known as "Canada's Cowgirl." Others to be featured include Judy Coder & Pride of the Prairie, a Kansas-based Western ensemble; singer/songwriter Terry Smith ("Far-side Banks of Jordan"); the hilarious O'Roark Brothers; and Western swing/rockabilly singer Liz Talley from Houston.

Film star guests at the Film & Music Festival include Robert Fuller (Laramie), Barry Corbin (Lonesome Dove), Lisa Montell (Gunsmoke, Maverick), Roberta Shore (The Virginian) and Don Reynolds, Jr. (Little Beaver). (Mr. Corbin will be attending if he is not involved in a film project at that time.)

Authors and celebrities confirmed include Bobby Copeland, author of 14 books about various aspects of the B-Western films; Joyce Spizer Foy & Judy Keel, author of Only Make Believe, a biography of actor Howard Keel; and Cheryl Rogers Barnett, daughter of Roy Rogers & Dale Evans. Celebrity MCs include Tommy Wiggins, John Buttram and Jo Hargrave. The event includes showings of various B Western films and a new film called Trail End, produced by Shannon Keenan and starring Barry Corbin.

The Gene Watson Show will be held Friday evening, September 26, and includes The O'Roark Brothers, Eli Barsi and Liz Talley. The Les Gilliam Show will be Saturday evening, September 27, and will include performances by Johnny Western, Judy Coder & Pride of the Prairie and Terry Smith.

Admission to the event is extremely affordable and discounts are given to Seniors, children 12 and under, and to afternoon tour groups. Contact the Museum at 580-294-3047 or townofgeneautry.com for a ticket price list.

The setting for the Film & Music Festival is the Gene Autry Oklahoma Museum, a three-building complex located just west of Gene Autry. Dedicated to the "legacy of the singing cowboys of the 'B' Westerns of the 1930s, '40s and '50s," the museum contains dozens of displays that evoke the lives, films and careers of the various singing cowboys. Included are Roy Rogers and Dale Evans, Ken Maynard, Eddie Dean, Tex Ritter, and, of course, Gene Autry (among many others).

The Gene Autry Oklahoma Film & Music Festival is an annual presentation of the Gene Autry Oklahoma Historical Society and Museum and is funded in part by the Oklahoma Arts Council and the Mid-America Arts Alliance.

For more information about the Film & Music Festival or the Gene Autry Oklahoma Museum in general, log on to www.geneautryokmuseum.com. To order tickets for the Film & Music Festival, call the Museum office at 580-294-3047, Mondays through Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

First Baptist Church Adult Group Meets

Well, we couldn't have asked for a nicer evening last Friday, the first day of summer. Hody and Diane Estes graciously opened their home to the Adult 2 Department of Lindsay First Baptist for a hamburger cookout.

We brought our favorite hamburger fixings and of course, dessert! Chairs were set up in the back yard while Hody grilled the burgers. Brother Randy Allen gave the blessing, and the visiting and talk quieted for a time. After the meal, those who wanted had a tour of the Estes' newest barn. There they have calf roping events most Saturdays.

The ladies admired the landscaping and gardening tips were exchanged over the fence. Everyone said that they'd had a good time, and we missed those who weren't able to come.

Attendees were: Randy and Dawn Allen, Roger and Fredda Bayles, Bob and Bonnie Bridwell, Garrett and Carole DeVries, Lavora Landers Dodd, Sherwood and Linda Eastman, Willie and Sandy Ellithorp, C.H. and Shirley England, Steve Hall, Lloyd and Darlene Henry, Margaret Henson, Jonetta Hinkle, L.B. and Ina Hoyle, Bob and Carolyn Hutto, Gene and Jerry Jones, Barbara Lackey, Val and Sharie Reneau, LaRue Robertson, and Bob and Betty White.

To Hody and Diane, again, a very big thank you.

Tall Tales

by Doyle Greteman

Superintendent, Lindsay Schools

As we approach the end of June, it might be a good time to update you as to what's been going on at the school so far this summer.

Our custodians have been working hard to tidy up the buildings, getting rid of a year's worth of foot traffic, as they remove the old wax and put on a fresh coat for the new school year.

Some of our other projects include replacing bathroom partitions, floor tile in a few classrooms that were in pretty bad shape, tearing out old shelving and carpet in the high school computer lab, replacing some classroom doors, installing smartboard systems in several classrooms, painting classrooms as needed, and, of course, keeping up with the growing grass.

We plan to order two new buses this year, in keeping with our plan of providing safe, current transportation equipment. Thanks to passage of the bond issue last fall, this continues to be a reality. The hardest part of the process might be to get Riley Stevens to approve the bids.

In case you didn't know it, Riley is the assistant transportation director. This job doesn't pay anything, but that doesn't matter to him. Riley is only in the first grade, but he knows more about the bus fleet than the superintendent. He does a daily checkup to make sure we're on our toes. If anything's out of order, you'd better believe he lets me know.

The new pre-kindergarten classrooms should be ready for the new school year. With this addition, we will have a little bit of breathing room in regard to space. By keeping the portable building for another year, we will have space to provide testing services in a standard setting, instead of having to move Mrs. Wilson around from place to place. When the new storm shelter/gathering area is finished, we will be able to use the old middle school teacher workroom for a testing room.

Speaking of the storm shelter, we will be discussing the bids at our July board meeting, hopefully approving a contractor to get started on that project late summer or early fall. It will be an interesting year for our middle school staff and students, as they will be demonstrating their flexibility, working around a construction project in progress.

We are still in the process of conducting interviews for teaching positions, hoping to have our staff filled by the July board meeting. We have lost some excellent teachers due to retirement and re-location, and are doing our best to replace them with high quality applicants.

As we head toward the Independence Day Celebration, we'd like to remind everyone to stay safe while you celebrate this Fourth of July. And while you're at it, if you get a chance, thank a veteran for the sacrifices they've made.

Looking forward to a great summer, this is your Wallville friend saying come see us when you can and this is be kind to "Linda Newby" week, a student of old Hughes High who has moved back to this territory some time ago. See ya.

Well, why I like seeing the old school alma mater I'm not sure. But, for years I went simply because I could see my old teachers, Mr. Preston Bunch, Mr. Eugene Smith and Mrs. Madge Hale without trembling with fear. Then, there was the chance of blue eyes might accidentally show up, left ol' Hughes in 1961 from the 7th grade, but, I've always wondered what happened to her. But, if nothing else we'll have a good time down the Wallville Road.

Future president Hughes Alumni two years running.

Turn off the highway and let's go down the Wallville Road. Now, who would have thought that the old school boy who looked forward to an excuse to play hooky from school would be faithful to the old school alumni gathering. I mean, the old boy who was always looked on as the country bumpkin of the class. The Jethro Boudine of Hughes School was alive and well. The old student who didn't want the teacher to ask him to answer the question.

My favorite subjects were P.E., Study Hall, and fine time spent in the lunchroom chowing down on the latest meal prepared by Mrs. Mamie Ellithorp and Mrs. Williams. I spent my quality time keeping up with the folks of Mayberry, Hooterville, Green Acres, and the Twilight zone. I had plenty of time on the old school bus ride to study and do homework didn't I? But, here I am out washing and waxing the old Studebaker down getting ready for that

2008 Annual Drinking Water Quality Report
 Garvin County Rural Water Distret #2

We're very pleased to provide you with this year's Annual Quality Water Report. Our Annual Quality Water Report is being posted in our local newspapers and will not be mailed to each individual customer. We want to keep you informed about the excellent water and services we have delivered to you over the past year. Our goal is and always has been, to provide to you a safe and dependable supply of drinking water. Our water source is ground water drawn from 3 water wells. The water wells are approximately 80 feet deep and are produced from the Purcell sandstone aquifer.

We have a source water protection plan available from our office that shows the vulnerability low. I'm pleased to report that our drinking water is safe and meets Federal and State requirements.

If you have any questions about this report or concerning your water utility, please contact Derek Taylor at 405-756-2440. We want our valued customers to be informed about their water utility. If you want to learn more, please attend any of our regularly scheduled meetings. They are held on the second Wednesday of each month at 6 p.m. unless otherwise posted. The meetings are held at 401 South Main, Lindsay, OK 73052.

Garvin County Rural Water District #2 routinely monitors for constituents in your drinking water according to Federal and State laws. This table shows the results of our monitoring for the period of January 1 to December 31, 2007. (Some of our data may be more than one year old because the state allows us to monitor for some contaminants less often than once per year.) All drinking water, including bottled drinking water, may be reasonably expected to contain at least small amounts of some constituents. It's important to remember that the presence of these constituents does not necessarily pose a health risk.

Water Quality Data Table

The table below lists all of the drinking water contaminants we detected for the calendar year of this report. The presence of contaminants in the water does not necessarily indicate that the water poses a health risk. Unless otherwise note, the data presented in this table is from testing done in the calendar year of the report.

In this table, you will find many terms and abbreviations you might not be familiar with. To help you better understand these terms we've provided the following definitions:

Non-Detects (ND)-laboratory analysis indicates that the constituent is not present.

Parts per million (ppm) or Milligrams per liter (mg/l)

Parts per billion (ppb) or Micograms per liter (ug/l)

Parts per trillion (ppt) or Nanograms per liter (nanograms/l)

Parts per quadrillion (ppq) or Picograms per liter (picograms/l)

Picocuries per liter (pCi/L)-picocuries per liter is a measure of the radioactivity in water.

Millirems per year (mrem/yr)-measure of radiation absorbed by the body.

Nephelometric Turbidity Unit (NTU)-nephelometric turbidity unit is a measure of the clarity of water. Turbidity in excess of 5 NTU is just noticeable to the average person.

Action Level (AL)-the concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow.

Treatment Technique (TT)-(mandatory language) A treatment technique is a required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water.

TEST RESULTS

23. Nitrate - NO3 (ppm) (as Nitrogen)	N	5.2 MG/L	2.23-5.2 MG/L	10	10	Runoff from fertilizer use; leaching from septic tanks, sewage; erosion of natural deposits

Maximum Contaminant Level(MCL)-(mandatory language) The MCL is the highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.

Maximum Contaminant Level Goal-(mandatory language) The MCLG is the level of a contaminant in drinking water below which is there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.

Microbiological Contaminants:

(1) Total Coliform. Coliforms are bacteria that are naturally present in the environment and are used as an indicator that other, potentially-harmful, bacteria may be present. Coliforms were found in more samples than allowed and this was a warning of potential problems.

Radiochemical Contaminants:

(4) Gross Alpha. Certain minerals are radioactive and may emit a form of radiation known as alpha radiation. Some people who drink water containing alpha emitters in excess of the MCL over many years may have an increased risk of getting cancer.

(5) Combined Radium 226-228. Some people who drink water containing radium 226 or 228 in excess of the MCL over many years may have an increased risk of getting cancer.

(6) Uranium. Some people who drink water containing uranium in excess of the MCL over many years may have an increased risk of getting cancer and kidney toxicity.

Inorganic Contaminants:

(8) Arsenic. Some people who drink water containing arsenic in excess of the MCL over many years could experience skin damage or problems with their circulatory system, and may have an increased risk of getting cancer.

(9) Barium. Some people who drink water containing barium in excess of the MCL over many years could experience an increase in their blood pressure.

(20) Fluoride. Some people who drink water containing fluoride in excess of the MCL over many years could get bone disease, including pain and tenderness of the bones. Children may get mottled teeth.

(21) Lead. Infants and children who drink water containing lead in excess of the action level could experience delays in their physical or mental development. Children could show slight deficits in attention span and learning abilities. Adults who drink this water over many years could develop kidney problems or high blood pressure.

(23) Nitrate. Infants below the age of six months who drink water containing nitrate in excess of the MCL could become seriously ill and, if untreated, may die. Symptoms include shortness of breath and blue-baby syndrome.

Inadequately treated water may contain disease-causing organisms. These organisms include bacteria, viruses, and parasites, which can cause symptoms such as nausea, cramps, diarrhea, and associated headaches.

As you can see by the table, our system had no violations. We are proud that your drinking water meets or exceeds all Federal and State requirements. We have learned through our monitoring and testing that some constituents have been detected. The EPA has determined that your water IS SAFE at these levels.

Drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the EPA's Safe Drinking Water Hotline at 800-426-4791.

The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity.

Contaminants that may be present in source water before we treat it include:

*Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations, and wildlife.

*Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, which can be naturally-occurring or result from urban stormwater runoff, industrial or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining, or farming.

*Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture and residential uses.

*Radioactive contaminants, which are naturally occurring.

*Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are by-products of industrial processes and petroleum production, and can also come from gas stations, urban stormwater runoff, and septic systems.

MCLs are set at very stringent levels. To understand the possible health effects described for many regulated constituents, a person would have to drink 2 liters of water every day at the MCL level for a lifetime to have a one-in-a-million chance of having the described health effect.

In our continuing efforts to maintain a safe and dependable water supply it may be necessary to make improvements in your water system. The costs of these improvements may be reflected in the rate structure. Rate adjustments may be necessary in order to address these improvements.

Thank you for allowing us to continue providing your family with clean, quality water this year. In order to maintain a safe and dependable water supply we sometimes need to make improvements that will benefit all of our customers. These improvements are sometimes reflected as rate structure adjustments. Thank you for understanding.

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by cryptosporidium and other microbiological are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline at 800-426-4791.

Please call our office if you have questions.

We at Garvin County Rural Water District #2 work around the clock to provide top quality water to every tap, said Derek Taylor.
