What, When & Where!

Lindsay Senior High Yearbooks are for sale, buy now and save! Early Bird Special is $30, the price after January 1, 2008 will be $40. Call Linda Brooks at 756-3132 extension 238.

It's That Time of the Year Folks! The Lindsay United Methodist Church annual Chili Corral and Bakery has returned and is in full swing! Everyone is invited to stop by the United Methodist Church Friday, November 16, 2007 from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. to start their day off with warm homemade cinnamon rolls and coffee. Or better yet, stop by and pick up an order of cinnamon rolls and surprise your boss, employees, or fellow co-workers to a delicious morning wakeup treat! Then take a few minutes to shop our Bakery for your Thanksgiving goodie. Some of the things you will find are pies, cakes, cookies, etc. You may want to get there early because the Methodist cooks are getting pretty well known for their holiday goodies! Wait! That's not all folks! At lunch time return for a steaming bowl of chili, a Frito Chili pie or a fresh sandwich and top the meal off with a mouth watering dessert. All items are priced separately, so you can have whatever you want. The United Methodist Church is located at 114 West Chickasaw. Y'all come! Call Sharon Fisher at 756-8734 for more information.

A Daddy Returns--

Community Bridges Program To Begin

A safe community is a very important thing. Together we can make a difference not only for a safer city today, but also a safer city for tomorrow. There's an old saying that there is safety in numbers. The Lindsay Police Department invites everyone in the community to take part in a way of life in a safer city. Just imagine the power of one (you) multiplied by a couple of thousand (everyone else).

According to Chief Eric Dodson, the department will soon begin its Community Bridges Program with visits to every home in town. The visitation initiative will strengthen the rapport between the Department and the community. It will share the faces and the voices behind the badges with homes in the community. Please remember that the officers are citizens first. They are real people, too, -- real people with real responsibilities for your well-being.

"We aim to build confidence and relationships with the community," Dodson said. "Community bonds are a group effort."

Dodson's open-door policy with the community will not only be on the streets, it will move to the front porches of your neighborhood.

Bridges are very important structures. For example, consider the Fourth Street bridge reconstruction. How many members of the community have had to rearrange their daily lives to get where they are going using alternate routes? How much more traffic has gone down Seventh Street to avoid the new bridge construction? How much extra time is now in your travels? How many emergency vehicles and school buses had to plan ahead for the alternate routes?

The construction is a process. It has taken time, effort and supplies.

Now imagine the properly completed bridge. Citizens will be able to safely travel on Fourth Street without the detours -- a straight shot to the Fourth Street traffic light and all the services, schools and businesses in town.

A community's communication bridge should work that way, too. Imagine a strong, safe structure that gets you from point to point. Most of the time, you don't think about all of its parts when you use it. You simply go across it to get to the other side. This network is important to the citizens as well as the police. The Department looks forward to working with the community in a safe and wholesome communication process.

Mrs. Inman's Class Shares Pumpkin Pie Recipes For Thanksgiving

Alexis Luster
Mix in 3 cups of flour, 1 teaspoon of cinnamon, 2 cups of milk with pumpkin. Put a pie crust on top and cook for 30 minutes at 20 degrees.

Kaleb Brown
You cut a pumpkin into a lot of halves for the whole family. Get a bowl and put in 1 cup of milk. Then you crack three eggs and get the yellow thing to come out. You get one glass of water pour it in the bowl with 3 shakes of sugar. Then you get some pie crusts and put it in the oven for 4 minutes. The oven has to be all the way on. Turn off the oven, take it out, put it on the table, and cut it to how much people are in your family so they can eat it. That's pumpkin pie.

Taylor Hughes
Get a pumpkin and put in 10 teaspoons of sugar, and 10 eggs. Cook it for 50 minutes at 60 degrees.

Brock Roady
Mix 4 teaspoons of eggs, 2 teaspoons of sugar, and 5 teaspoons of milk. Put in 60 teaspoons of cinnamon. Put it in a pie crust and cook it for 10 minutes at 60 degrees.

Ethan Tarver
Buy some crust stuff. Put 4 eggs, 1 gallon of milk and pumpkin in a pie crust and cook it in the oven.

Aiden Williams
Put 3 eggs, 2 drops of milk, 1 piece of butter, 3 drops of sugar with some cheese and pumpkin. Put it in the oven for 6 minutes at 7degrees.

Christian Hilderbrandt
Put a big pumpkin pie in a pan and bake it for 35 seconds and 2 minutes. The oven needs to be 30 degrees.

Natalie Henson
Get a pumpkin. a little bit of salt, 1 teaspoon of sugar, 2 eggs, 1 cup of milk and stir it together. Put it in a pie crust and cook it for 10 hours at 2 degrees.

Austin Bunch
Get a piece of pumpkin and put it on the plate and heat it at 30 degrees for 20 minutes.

Abrianna Sanders
First you get a pumpkin and then cut it and you put it in a bowl. You put 2 eggs in and put it in a pan. You put it in the oven for 30 minutes at 20 degrees.

Jacob Johnson
Get a piece of pumpkin and put it on a plate. Put salt on it and cook it for 10 minutes at 90,000 degrees.

Tyler Stelzig
Get some pumpkin, 4 eggs, 1 1/2 gallon of milk and stir it up in a bowl. Put it in the oven for 1/2 hour and hour at 24 degrees.

Chynna Romine
You mix 4 eggs and a cup of water with 2 cups of cinnamon and some pumpkin. Cook it for 20 minutes at 10 degrees.

Julia Westfall
Get the crust and roll it with a rolling pin. Put some flour on it and roll it again. Next, you get a bowl and you put 3 eggs, 3 spoonfuls of milk, and pumpkin stuff, and stir it together. Put it in the oven to bake for 3 minutes at 6 degrees.

Tiffany Chambers
You get a piece of pumpkin, 10 cups of sugar, 1 cup of cinnamon. Put it in the oven for 60 minutes at 60 degrees.

Micheal Hampton
Put some flour in a cut up pumpkin with 1,2,3,4,5,6, cups of salt. Put in more flour and then cook it when it gets thawed out. Cook it for 5 or 10 minutes at 1,2,3,4,5,6,7,8,9,1 0 degrees.

Maddy Ruble
First you get a pumpkin and then put it on the plate. Burst it open and get all the gooey stuff out. Put it in a bowl and put 2 teaspoons of sugar, 2 cups of milk, 2 eggs and mix up the ingredients. Make the oven 93 degrees and cook it for 8 minutes.

Brooklyn Taylor
You mix 8 eggs, 10 cups of milk, 30 teaspoons sugar, and pumpkin together. Cook it for 30 minutes at 35 degrees.

OKLAHOMA SPIRIT

One hundred years ago this week, Oklahoma became a state. On November 16, 1907, President Theodore Roosevelt signed the proclamation making Oklahoma the forty-sixth state of the union. As we celebrate this anniversary, we celebrate the people who built our state. The Centennial Celebration is a celebration of the spirit of Oklahoma people, the people who tilled the land, built the cities, did the work, and raised the families that make up our state.

Our history is a reflection of the spirit of Oklahoma people. From the beginning of our history, the inhabitants of Oklahoma have felt a spiritual bond to the land. This unity with the land was first illustrated by the Native American warriors, the Cheyennes, Arapahos, Kiowas, and Comanches, who swept across the prairies in pursuit of the buffalo which grazed the plains.

Even before Oklahoma became a state, hardy pioneers charged across the prairies in the 1890s in the great land runs that settled much of what would become Oklahoma. These adventurous pioneers established cities overnight, set up businesses, and staked claims on the prairies and began developing what our wonderful Oklahoma writer Harold Keith called The Obstinate Land. Our state was built on the Oklahoma spirit. The Oklahoma spirit has inspired us in good times and sustained us in bad times. In the good times, the spirit of adventure developed our state. The oil booms of the 1920s and the 1970s and 1980s showed the Oklahoma spirit. The great oil barons and their companies showed the spirit of adventure - Frank Phillips, E.W. Marland, Halliburton, Champlin, and Kerr-McGee. The ranching empires of the Barnards, Chapmans, and Mullendores illustrate the adventure that marked our state. Strong individuals with the Oklahoma spirit built businesses such as Cudd Pressure Control, Ditch Witch, and Owl Photo.

The Oklahoma spirit shined brightest in the bad times. In all of our wars, Oklahoma warriors have led the way. In World War I, Oklahomans fought in the terrible trenches of France. In World War II, the 45th Infantry Division led the way in battle. In Korea, Vietnam, Iraq, and Afghanistan, Oklahomans have written a marvelous chapter in the history of America. Through drought, floods, tornadoes, and the Murrah Building bombing, the Oklahoma spirit has sustained us.

Perhaps the greatest test of Oklahoma spirit was the Great Depression and the Dust Bowl years. When the economy collapsed, the drought came, and erosion destroyed the land, the spirit of Oklahoma people prevailed. Those Okies who fled to California showed one kind of spirit, the willingness to try to build a new life in a strange land. Those Oklahomans who stayed with the land, endured the hardships, and survived a decade of depression, dust, and poverty showed the tenacity that has marked Oklahomans throughout our history as a state. In all of the good times and bad times, the Oklahoma spirit has been sustained by a strong faith in God.

If the Oklahoma spirit was exhibited by responses to hardship, it was because of the Oklahoma people themselves. The magnificence of the Oklahoma spirit is the magnificence of the Oklahoma people. Oklahoma leads the nation with seven astronauts. Wiley Post, a one-eyed, sixth grade dropout, and was a pioneer aviator, the inventor of the first space suit, and a record setting pilot. His statue stands in Maysville, his home town. Bobby Joe Cudd, an Alex Longhorn fullback and catcher, established an internationally-known oil well fire fighting company. John Mann, my friend and the best man at my wedding, became a top corporate executive with Kentucky Fried Chicken. The Oklahoma spirit of energy and determination raised them to the top of their professions.

In many fields of endeavor, the Oklahoma spirit has led Oklahomans to the top of their fields. In sports, we have Jim Thorpe, Mickey Mantle, Johnny Bench, Jim Sholders, Freckles Brown, and Henry Iba. Oklahoma has produced four Heisman trophy winners. We have six Miss Americas. We can boast of famous musicians such as Woody Guthrie, Gene Autry, Kay Starr, Roger Miller and Toby Keith. Oklahoma journalists have covered the world - Will Rogers, Bill Moyers, and Paul Harvey. Oklahoma authors have brought fame and honor to our state- Angie Debo, Harold Keith, Louis L'Amour, Ralph Ellison, Wilson Rawls, and Scott Momaday.

The Oklahoma spirit is manifested in all facets of our history. The Oklahoma spirit of hardiness, humor, courage, creativity, and friendliness surrounds us in our daily lives in this magnificent state. As we celebrate our Centennial Anniversary, we can repeat the last two words of our state song - "OKLAHOMA'S OK!"

Bridges

The communication bridge construction is a process. The Department is offering its time, effort and supplies. They encourage you to share your efforts, too.

During the home visits, be sure to look for your invitation to the LPD's Basketball Spectacular featuring local teams playing against the Harlem Entertainers. This event will be on Saturday, Dec. 8. Proceeds will benefit the Lindsay Police Department Reserve Program. Advance tickets are on sale.

The Reserve Program has ten people enrolled at this time. They volunteer their time and efforts in a five month training program and service throughout the community. These civilians take part in LPD's four level training program. The next class will be graduating in the beginning of December.

"Our reservists are regular people with civic pride," reserve academy coordinator Lt. D.J. Deal said. "I am very proud of them."

For more information about the Community Bridge Program, the Basketball Spectacular or the Reserve Program, the Department invites you to call 756-4481 or visit them at their office on the corner of Main and Kiowa in historic, beautiful downtown.

OU journalism student Angenene Kendrick compiled this information on behalf of the Lindsay Police Department.

Horse Adoption To Be Held In Pauls Valley

The U.S. Bureau of Land Management (BLM) will hold a wild horse and burro adoption in Pauls Valley, Friday-Saturday, Nov. 16-17, 2007. Attendance is free and open to the public.

This two-day weekend event kicks off a new quarterly adoption schedule at the BLM's regional facility in Pauls Valley. Previously, adoptions were held the second Tuesday of each month; now adoptions are held every three to four months on announced dates. Dates for the coming year are:

- Nov. 16-17, 2007
- March 14-15, 2008
- May 16-17, 2008
- Aug. 15-16, 2008

(Times: Fridays 8:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m.; Saturdays 8:00 a.m. - noon)

"We hope that a two-day weekend adoption will be more convenient for those who might have work or family conflicts during the week," said Bob Mitchell, adoption program manager in Oklahoma.

A mixed group of 70-80 animals will be offered at each adoption, often including burros and young horses. These are animals that once roamed free on public lands in the West. The BLM periodically removes excess animals from the range in order to ensure herd health and to maintain balance among the many public uses of the land. The adoption program is essential for preserving these "living legends."

Call the facility directly at 405-238-7138 to learn specifics about the selection of animals expected to be available at an upcoming adoption. The facility cannot accept special requests for specific animals to be made available.

Adopters who live within 100 miles of Pauls Valley can arrange for free delivery of their animal(s) by BLM staff. Delivery is scheduled based on staff availability. Alternatively, adopters who bring their own covered stock-type trailers may haul their animals home right away.

Directions to the Pauls Valley facility: On Interstate 35, approximately 45 miles south of Oklahoma City, Exit 74, Kimberlin Road, 1/4 mile west to facility entrance. Look for signs.

For more information about the adoption process or other upcoming adoption opportunities, the public can call the BLM's Wild Horse & Burro Information Line toll-free at 866-4-MUSTANGS (866-468-7826), or visit HYPERLINK "http://www.nm.blm.gov" www.nm.blm.gov.

The flag salute was led by Erna Tannehill. Joy Tannehill, a guest and former member, led the group in repeating the club creed.

A devotional, "As It's Winter Before We Know It," was given by Julia Murray. The thought for the day "Our duty is not to see through one another, but to see one another through" was read by Shirley Caldwell. Oleda Flud read the tips and bits and quote.

Answering roll call of what do you like about Thanksgiving the best? was answered by Shirley Caldwell, Sue Duncan, Oleda Flud, Allene Lindsey, Julia Murray, Sally Scott, Erna Tannehill and special guest Joy Tannehill.

Minutes of the previous meeting were discussed. Allen Lindsey gave the treasurer's report. Sue Duncan reported on cook book sales status.

Erna Tannehill brought the group up to date on Erin Springs cemetery grounds and finances.

Oleda Flud graciously volunteered to have the December meeting/annual Christmas salad luncheon at her home December 11 at 5 p.m.

The meeting was adjourned. Sue Duncan drew the door prize that was brought by Shirley Caldwell.

Refreshments were served by the hostess Sally Scott.

Financial Focus

When Choosing Mutual Funds, Look Past Short-term Returns

What's the most prominent thing you notice about mutual fund advertisements? In most cases, it's the fund's return. Quite often, these returns are truly eye-popping. But if you look closer at the ads, you'll see that many of the highest returns are for short periods of time, such as one year or three years. And a mutual fund's short-term return is not, by itself, reason enough to buy that fund — so don't rush to your checkbook.

Actually, a mutual fund's short-term performance may tell you less about the fund than about what's been happening in the financial markets. If most stocks rise significantly for a few years, the chances are pretty good that a stock-based mutual fund is going to do well, too. But more importantly, you shouldn't evaluate a fund on its short-term return because a mutual fund is a long-term investment. To assess a fund's long-term performance, you'll need to look at its annualized return — its return over a period of time other than one year. For example, a two-year return of 10 percent could be stated as an annualized rate of return of five percent. And by comparing annualized returns, you can learn a lot about a fund's historical performance. If a fund's annualized return for the last three years is 12 percent, but over 10 years it was just five percent, you could conclude that the results of the past three years are not representative of the fund's long-term track record.

Apart from its annualized return, what else should you look for when considering a mutual fund? Here are a few suggestions:

Performance against similar funds — How has the fund you're considering performed in comparison to other funds with the same investment objective over 10- and 15-year time periods? That is, if you're evaluating a growth-and-income fund, contrast its performance against the universe of other growth-and-income funds.

Fund manager's longevity — Ask your financial advisor how long a fund manager — or a management team — has been responsible for making the investment decisions. Assuming the fund has a superior 10- and 15-year track record to begin with, the longer a manager has been in place, the better.

Expense level — Different mutual funds have different costs associated with them. All factors being equal, look for those funds with the lower expense levels. The more you pay each year in expenses and fees, the lower your overall return. However, some funds have justifiably higher expenses, and you may want to consider these funds to help diversify your mutual fund holdings.

Investment "overlap" — Even if a fund has shown consistently good returns and has a talented, experienced manager, it still might not be right for you, particularly if it overlaps with similar funds in your portfolio. You might be better off by purchasing a different kind of mutual fund and thereby broadening your holdings. Your financial advisor can help you create a diversified mutual fund portfolio that fits your risk tolerance and investment objectives.

Finally, ask your financial advisor for a copy of the fund's prospectus, which contains complete information about the fund, including risks, charges and expenses as well as other important information that should be carefully considered.

By doing some research and learning all you can about a mutual fund, you'll be prepared to make smart investment decisions.

Tall Tales

by Doyle Greteman

Superintendent, Lindsay Schools

Monday morning, our students did an admirable job of honoring veterans in our community. Representatives from all three sites offered tribute in songs, prose readings, and "thank you" cards.

Asked to make some remarks, I was honored to talk about these veterans. We need to recognize their sacrifices and their heroism. Following are some excerpts from the contents of the speech, not necessarily word-for-word, but to the best of my memory, it went something like this:

I grew up on a farm in western Oklahoma. In the summer of 1966, when I was around 17 years old, I was helping my Uncle Frankie cut wheat. Frankie had spent 38 months in the Phillipines in World War Two.

It was a typical warm, humid June day. We were greasing the combine, getting ready to start cutting, when suddenly a loud clap of thunder came out of the sky. Instinctively, Frankie literally dove under the pickup.

As he got up, brushing himself off, he sort of smiled and said, "It was a flashback. I thought I was back in the war."

Think about that for just a moment! 21 years after the war had ended, it still had that kind of impact on him. Frankie was of the same generation as many of the men you see sitting behind this podium.

Now, let's talk about some words. How about "courage?" According to Webster's Dictionary, courage is "moral strength that makes a person face any danger, trouble or pain steadily and without showing fear." It doesn't mean there is no fear; just that they don't show it.

"Patriotism" is another word that people like to throw around. Webster says this word means "love of one's country." It doesn't mean we have to agree with everything our president and congress do. It does mean, however, that we support them. If changes need to be made, we do that at the ballot box.

There's another word: "freedom." Freedom simply means not being under another's control—the power to do, say, or think as we please.

Do you like to wear your hair a little long? How about those jeans you're wearing? It's okay if they have a few holes in them, isn't it? Your right to dress that way was guaranteed by the people who had the courage to fight for that freedom.

You know, there was a man named Adolph Hitler who ruled in the last century. If he had had his way, very few of us would be here today. You see, he had a notion that everyone ought to have blonde hair and blue eyes. But because of the heroism of American soldiers, Hitler was defeated.

We have a number of Vietnam Veterans here today as well. They made that sacrifice because our country's leaders had a commitment to the SEATO treaty. America is about living up to our commitments. We were in Vietnam because we had signed an agreement to help defend that part of the world from Communism.

Please don't ever confuse heroes with superstars. I love athletics, but those guys aren't heroes. Barry Bonds, Babe Ruth, Terrel Owens, Kobe Bryant, Alex Rodriguez—they're all superstars.

But if you want to see what a hero looks like, take a peek at the men sitting behind this podium. Those are your real American heroes. Let's give them a round of applause.]

And the speech was over. Then, the applause began. From the smallest students to the high school seniors, they rose in unison to give these proud veterans a long, rousing, standing ovation.....well-deserved.....real American heroes.....being treated like superstars.....

He works at the Lindsay Pool for Mr. Herrin as a lifeguard.

After high school Jay plans to attend college to become a physical therapist.

Leopard News

By: Josh Boydston

There isn't much happening around the school this week. The National Honor Society will be sponsoring the annual turkey drive so if you have any interest in donating a turkey to a needy family, just buy a turkey and bring it to the school. Donations will also be accepted.

The Academic Bowl season ended this week. The Leopards lost in the fourth round at regionals in Kingfisher. I would like to congratulate the Leopards on a great season.

Wednesday, October 24 the FFA officers and other members from Lindsay left for the FFA National Convention in Indianapolis, IN. Traveling along with the Lindsay crew was the Waurika FFA Chapter, whom we became very close to.

Along the way to the convention we got the privilege of stopping in St. Louis to see the Cardinals stadium. We also got to visit the Gateway Arch. This was an experience never to be forgotten.

We got to attend the convention and hear some very inspirational speakers, such as Henry Winkler. We got to visit the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, we saw so many neat things!

We met FFA members from everywhere. I imagine some you are wondering who won the bet between Doug Ezell and Mrs. Watkins about getting a Hawaiian girls phone number. Well, Douglas lost that one, and we won't let him forget it either! Those of us who got the once in a lifetime privilege of attending the convention would like to sincerely thank all of those in the community who made it happen! You have no idea how great of a time we had, and how much we appreciate you!

Turn off the highway and let's go down the Wallville Road. Walking down in the pecan bottom in the mist of an Indian Summer. Leaves fall like a heavy snowstorm, squirrels scamper from tree to tree. Ideal time for hunters and fishermen. Now, my granddad, Ed Hunt, could remember when hunting and fishing was a way of life and not a sport. Fishing tackle was a hook, line, and sinker wrapped around a cork and carried in your pocket. The rod was a long tree limb or a pole cut from the cane brakes when you reached the creek. Flies and spinners were wiggling worms in a can. You strung the catch on a forked limb. There was a time when marksmanship could be measured by the number of squirrel tails hanging out of your pocket or your neighbors knew how many quail you got by counting the shots. The bag limit was as many as you needed and no more you discovered early that regardless of how crisp and brown the fish were fried they tasted better if you caught them. No matter how good squirrel and dumplings were cooked they tasted better if you did the shootin and the quail were better eating if you plucked the feathers. The woods and ponds will do a brisk business as autumn arrives down the Wallville

Road.

From sea to shining sea it's greetings from Wallville, America, land of the free and home of the brave. We salute every veteran who stood the test. Legend #784.

Congratulations to Joe, Kandace, and Sierra Hunt on the arrival of their new daughter McKensie Rae, born November 6, 2007 at Norman Regional Hospital, weighing in at 8 lbs. 5 oz. Happy grandparents are Al and Cindy Hunt and Paul and Ramona Jett.

Happy anniversary wishes to Lynn and Jeaniene Watkins, 31 years this November 20. They keep on rolling with the flow.

With the crops out of the field and things kind of slowing down, take time to send you Christmas cards and news to the Owl Man at RR 3 Box 222-A, Pauls Valley, OK 73075 or call 405-207-3268 or 207-1691.

Cecil Smith, John Howell, Howard Walden, and Al Hunt were among those enjoying the veterans day service at Maysville High School November 12, to the students participating. It's a job well done.

Visiting in the Owl

Man's home recently have been Sierra Hunt, Dallas Pope, Matt and Kristi and Sierra Hunt, Karen Robbins, Steve Mayhan, Detry Boudine, and Mike and Naomi Hines under the cover of darkness.

The little country church of Wallville invites you to share the good news of Jesus Christ with them. Services are Sunday morning at 10 a.m., Sunday night at 6:30 p.m., Wednesday night at 7:30 p.m. and Saturday night at 7:30 p.m. Handshakes and smiles are given out at the door, going and coming.

Direct from the pages of Old Al's Almanac--November 11, 2007, gas is $3.15 cents a gallon, 5 cent candy bars, are 75 cents, and a bottle of pop is $1.59. Highest I've seen it in all my born days.

The Wallville Church young people will be traveling to Kingfisher's Wings of Faith Holiness Church, November 16 for a youth rally with Brother Joe Ince, pastor, starting at 7:30 p.m.

The Wallville Veteran's Committee salutes Tech-3 Cecil Smith, Army World War II. Serving with the ordinance and maintenance outfit in Nuremburg, Germany and northern parts of Germany.

A wonderful turn out came to the benefit dinner for Alfred White. A lot of food and hugs. Now, let's get busy and pray. Alfred is battling cancer.

Alright, birthday boomers, Emily Lawson on the 17, Sonya Palmer parties on the 17, Mr. Edward Hearon's birthday is the 18, Derwin Auld on the 18, Jim Rouse on the 19, Shelly Mayhan celebrates big time on the 21, and closing out the week Sterling Hammond and Kayla Sierra Hunt do it up right on the 22. More next week.

Winner of the roses, Don and Carla English celebrating 52 years this November 21. Hughes school graduates and long time community family. Congratulations.

The Hughes teacher research team remembers Mrs. Bessie (Dame) Penn who taught 25 years at Hughes School and 10 years at Center, OK. She was stricken with polio at age 3, but played a major part in people's lives and at Hughes School. Married Mr. Hermon Penn in October of 1948.

So long from Wallville this week and were dealing with the economy know what I mean? This is be kind to "Ray Burton" week.

Well, with Autumn here can the pie supper be far away? The cotton patch is flourishing on the north end of the road. Folks are breaking out their cotton sacks and the cold north winds of winter will soon be coming down the Wallville Road.

Helen Harmon Given Birthday Celebration

An 80th birthday party for Helen Harmon was held October 28. A wonderful time of fellowship and eating was held. Her daughters and their spouses furnished the meal.

Those attending the celebration were Gene and Linda Hawkins, Oklahoma City, OK, Jay Hawkins and girls Kayla, Abby, and Emily from Bethany, OK, James and Veronica Hawkins and children Searria and Timothy from El Reno, OK, Donald and Donna Price of Tuttle, OK, Michele Gammig, Edmond, OK, Todd and Brittany Henderson from Edmond, OK, Kathy Lalmanzig and Bo Dalton from Bridgeport, TX, and Tuffy

Harmon of Lindsay, OK.

A second party was held October 25, Helen's actual birthday, by her sisters and nieces. Those attending were Gary and Evelyn Harmon of Maysville, OK, a niece, Sonya Wheeler from Marlow, OK; sisters, Judy Palmer and Jody Kouns from Duncan, OK, Jacque Windsor from Noble, OK.

Helen said it was a blessing for her to have so many loved ones help her celebrate her 80th birthday. Thanks family.

Tyler Zaemonzig, a grandson, didn't get to attend, he is in school at Texas Tech and they missed him.

Friendship Club Meets

Friendship Club met at Lori Ann's Le Tea Room, Saturday night, November 10 for a traditional Thanksgiving dinner.

Lori Ann served a delicious meal of turkey, dressing with all the trimmings, pumpkin pie topped with whipped cream, coffee, and tea.

Those attending were Bob and Betty White, Joy Everett, Fannie Stansbury, Helen Cox and daughter Michelle Morton, and granddaughter McKinley Michelle, Emma Cantrell, Jr. and Wanda Reeves, Bill and Thelma Love, Merele Schwartz, Lois Knapp and guest Fannie Stephens.

THANK YOU

Thank you from the family of Marvin J. Reed:

How do we begin to say "thank you" to all the wonderful friends and family who stood by us during the loss of our darling daddy? Thank you to the Lighthouse church family who fed us regularly, thank you to all who called; came by; brought food; sent cards, and flowers; attended the service; and spoke kindnesses to us. Thank you to the Lawton Veterans Center for the loving care they provided in his final days. Thank you to BG Boydston Funeral Home for your kind and professional help during this most difficult time. Thank you to all the veterans who honored our daddy with a full military service at the cemetery. We are forever grateful.
