Harlem Entertainers Perform In Lindsay

By: A Kendrick

In the grand tradition of exhibition basketball, the Lindsay Police Department hosted the Harlem Entertainers in front of a packed gym on Saturday, December 8.

The game was a fundraiser for the Lindsay Reserve Police Officers Association. Although there wasn't an accurate count of the energetic and enthusiastic fans in the crowd, there were over 600 tickets sold. The Reserve Officers raised $2,500.

"We are looking forward to much needed equipment," Police Chief Eric Dodson said.

The Harlem Entertainers is a professional basketball troupe which has been called the professional clowns of the court. The game in Lindsay lived up to that expectation.

"It's all basketball and all clown." Coach Booker Washington said.

Washington studied basketball with Harlem Globetrotter Marques Haynes and received recognition from the Oklahoma Coaches Association. Washington and his team not only combined professional athletics with outrageous antics, they delivered an evening of entertainment.

Most fans had fun and expressed an interest in coming to another game in the future.

"I thought it was a wonderful family event," Susan Allen said. "My daughter and my Saturday night," Dodson said.

Over thirty local players volunteered and participated in the game. Their performances were also considered entertaining.

Team Business consisted of William Belknap, Jared Thomas, Justin Mainka, Aric Bearden, Jason Brown, Todd Wilson and Brian Jones.

Team Mighty Clippers were Sharla Marcum, Sheila Holden, Deidre Marcum, Jenni Henson, Katy Pickett, Brandi Brand, Dwight Marcum, Dewayne Marcum, Michael Holden, T.J. Henson and Robin Brand.

Team Lindsay Schools included Dan Chapman, Doyle Greteman, Scott Baade, John Inman, Rick McCoy and Gavin Wilson.

Team Donut Dunkers: Eric Dodson, D.J. Deal, Brent Locke, Dee Gregory, Randy Ramming, Michael Poe, and Billy Nye

The Lindsay Police appreciated all the volunteers, spectators and donors. The Department expressed a special thanks to The Harlem Entertainers, KBLP, Lindsay Schools, The Shopper, The Lindsay News, and MAC's Printing for their help.

Officers Graduate From Reserve Academy

By: A Kendrick

Nine south-central Oklahoma police reservists graduated from the Lindsay Police Reserve Academy on Saturday afternoon.

"These special officers represent the ultimate show of sacrifice," Academy Coordinator Lt. D.J. Deal said. "I commend them on a job well done."

The graduates completed their four-month training last Thursday evening. They have been committed to two nights a week and some weekends to complete their course. The graduation was for their family and friends who had to give up time with their reserve trainee Police Chief Eric Dodson said.

From the Ada Police Department was graduate David Wilbanks. The graduate from the Chickasha Police Department was Kevin Mellencamp. Reserve graduates from the Garvin County Sheriff's Office were Stephanie Eastwood and David McMillen.

Nye was recognized for the best combined scores on the firing range. He received a gift certificate.

Wilbanks was recognized for the highest in-class test scores for written and hands-on exams.

"These students remained focused and were willing to learn even dry and boring material," staff instructor Sgt. Dee Gregory said. "They made a difference by their commitment."

Candidate for State House of Representatives Brad Perry was the guest speaker. He recognized and applauded the Lindsay Police Department for their trials, tribulations and earned respect.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

To Whom It May Concern:

I would like to start this letter by saying; I am a resident of Lindsay, Oklahoma and have been for the majority of my life. I have found Lindsay to be a safe and comfortable home for raising my family and would like to keep it a secure community. I have been informed by some members of the community that a company referred to as Civigenics Corplan Corrections have plans of building a 500 bed medium security facility in Lindsay. I am not in favor of this proposal and would like to voice my opinion to the public. I would also like to make the citizens of Lindsay aware of what is going on.

Sincerely,
 Sonya Smith

Oklahoma Healthy Business

Southern Plains Medical Center and Grady Memorial Hospital were each recently recognized as an Oklahoma Certified Healthy Business during the annual Oklahoma Turning Point Council Forum. The www.okturningpoint.org/chbform Oklahoma Certified Healthy Businesses initiative acknowledges those businesses (both profit and non-profit) that are working to improve Oklahoma's health status by providing health and wellness opportunities for their employees.

The Certified Health Business project is sponsored and supported by the Oklahoma Academy for State Goals, the Oklahoma Turning Point Council, the State Chamber of Commerce, and the Oklahoma State Department of Health. The certification specifically recognizes business for promoting and sponsoring a wide array of health and wellness activities.

Among items that qualifies a business for certification are: health education, annual physical exams, cholesterol and blood pressure screening, flu shots and other similar screening, evaluation and preventative programs. Businesses are also judged on health promotion and education materials or courses, physical activities offered in the workplace and being a 100% tobacco free property.

Other criteria that go in the makeup of the certification may include: health insurance, space for breast feeding mothers, support groups, employee assistance programs, onsite safety and training programs, healthy menu items, blood donor programs and other wellness activities. More information about the certification program may be found on the turning point website: www.okturningpoint.org.

He told them about the first step in their careers and the importance of their communities.

"Loyalty, honor and judgment come before all else," Perry said. "People will not always agree with you, but you should always do the honorable thing, working for the good of the community."

Perry said that family was important and that home life will affect the officer. Becoming a reserve officer will be a lifestyle change, but it is for family and for community.

"Officers are a tight-knit group and it is a wonderful thing to be a part of," Perry said.

Perry thanked the graduates for what they have done and what they are about to do.

On behalf of the graduates, Byrd thanked the Lindsay Police Department, the assistant district attorneys, the families, the City of Lindsay and other people who made the last four months possible.

"We didn't know how tough it was going to be, but we grew to be part of each others' lives," Byrd said. "It is an honor to serve with these brothers and sisters."

Which Mutual Funds are Right for You?

About 96 million people own mutual funds, according to the Investment Company Institute, a trade organization for the mutual fund industry. So the chances are pretty good that you may already own some funds — but with more than 10,000 of them on the market, how can you know you're picking the right ones?

Of course, just by owning mutual funds, you get at least two key advantages. First, you'll get professional management, which means that a highly trained investment expert will be choosing the securities that go into your mutual funds. And second, mutual funds offer a degree of diversification because each fund owns a variety of stocks, bonds, government securities and other investments. Keep in mind, though, that diversification can't guarantee a profit or protect against a loss.

However, even though all mutual funds offer you these two benefits, you can't just buy a bunch of funds, willy-nilly, and assume you're making the right moves. Many people think that if one growth-oriented mutual fund gives them a chance to have their money grow, then several growth funds will enable them to make really big profits. But many growth stocks look alike. So, if you bought several of these funds, you might wind up with a lot of similar stocks in slightly different packages. And if one of your funds is adversely affected by market circumstances, the others could be similarly hit, so you might end up losing the benefit of diversification.

How can you avoid buying a bunch of nearly identical growth funds? Ask your financial advisor for the prospectuses or annual reports of all the funds you're considering. These documents typically list their funds' individual holdings and the percentages of different types of assets. If you see too much overlap between a fund you're considering and one you already own, consider looking elsewhere for better opportunities. A mutual fund's prospectus also includes the fund's investment objectives, risks, charges, expenses and other important information, so be sure to read the prospectus carefully before investing or sending money.

Types of Funds Thus far, we've mostly discussed growth funds. To create a diversified mutual fund portfolio, though, you'll need to consider other types of funds, such as the following:

Growth-and-income funds — As the name suggests, growth-and-income funds strive to achieve a mix of capital growth and current income. These types of funds invest in dividend-paying stocks and some bonds.

Bond funds — You can find mutual funds that focus on corporate, Treasury or municipal bonds. While all these funds seek to provide income, they differ in risk level and tax consequences.

International funds — International funds invest in stocks in non-U.S. companies. Although such funds have the potential to achieve large gains, they are frequently volatile, as they are subject to currency fluctuation and political and economic risks.

Sector funds — "Sector" funds primarily invest in the stocks of a particular industry or segment of the economy, such as technology, health care or financial services. Sector funds are, by design, less diversified than other types of mutual funds; consequently, they are generally more risky.

Your financial advisor can help you find the right mix of mutual funds for your individual risk tolerance, long-term goals and time horizon. So, pick your funds carefully. Today's decisions can have a big impact on your financial future.

Alex News--

Alex Elementary students helped to raise money that will add new equipment to their completely renovated and newly equipped playground, complete with regulation size basketball court, by buying Christmas shaped cookies and decorating them. Each student picked out their favorite shape and decorated it with a variety of colored icings and sprinkles to suit them. Mrs. Brooksher, fifth grade teacher baked 450 cookies; students could eat them or take them home to a favorite family member. The students raised a substantial amount that will be used to purchase picnic tables and benches for the playground.

Alex Elementary--Each of Mrs. Moore's third grade students completed their unit on Life Science by preparing a diorama featuring a particular creature from the categories of mammals/vertebrates, anthropoids, mollusks, and reptiles. Each showed their habitats complete with proper vegetation, type of climate, and food sources. Their displays were accompanied by a written report giving factual information and data that couldn't be easily displayed about their creature. Students learned the necessities that animal require are the same as for humans, food, shelter, and protection.

And Happy New Year!

Turn off the highway and let's go down the Wallville Road. Winter in Wallville is spelled C-O-L-D. Now, we've had our share of mild winters, but as a rule they are C-O-L-D, cold. They say the only thing separating Wallville from the North Pole is a barbed wire fence and it's blown down. So, when cows gather in a low spot in the pasture, dogs curl up under the porch. Those dark, gray clouds just look cold. You know a change in the weather is on the way. Those men will make a soda bottle crate convention around the black pot bellied stove in the back room of the Wallville General. Moms will tack blankets across the entry way from living room to dining room to seal in the warmth and kick blankets up against the doors to block out the cold air seeping in. There have been times winter storms blowed in and stayed guineas flew into the Blackjacks, their feet froze to the limbs and they froze to death, (an early version of the frozen dinner). Jars of summer canning in the fruit cellar froze and busted. In '48 Pap Brown had to take a chopping ax to break the ice to get his horses to the barn. Yep, Wallville America stays behind close doors when winter comes down the Wallville Road.

There's no place like home for the holidays, ain't that the truth. Happy holidays from all the good folks of Wallville, Hughes, Red Bluff and all about the Rush Creek Washita reservation. Legend #789.

To all our readers thanks for the many Christmas cards and all the nice things you had to say, a early Happy New Year to you.

Our hearts once again goes out to the Vestle family at the passing of their mother Esther "Cookie" Vestle (70). Her family had attended Wallville Church in the 1960's and were still dear friends. Her funeral was December 15, 2007.

Our Hughes School teacher research team remembers Mrs. Maybelle Bradley, Hughes teacher 1959-1960's, who once said, I was her best student that year in the 5th grade (1959). Eat your heart out bulldogs.

Winner of the roses Edward and Helen Hearon December 24 makes 57 years of Christmas Eves together. Hughes residents.

Hats off to all our readers, Darrell and Gina Cable, distributors, the US Mail and the world wide web for making it another fun year going down Wallville Road.

Happy 45th anniversary to the Rush Creek bunch, Ed and Vicki Kay, this December 22. May your days be merry and bright.

A double happy birthday to Charles Powers on the 21, Aaron White on the 21, Sharon Bray on the 22, Jerry Sanford on the 22, Jackie Thompson on the 23, Miss Mamie Childress turns 91 on the 23 and Dorothy Cheshier Branch parties big time on the 24, and say happy birthday to Pat Wigley on the 22. The Wallville Veteran's Committee remembers Tech-4 Clarence Cecile "Hoot" Hunt, served in World War II from 1941-1945. Did duty in Alaska, returned home

Christmas Day 1945. One of Wallville's heroes.

Our thoughts are with the thousands who lost power and damages and loved ones from the recent ice storm. It makes the thought that for the first time in our 30 years of marriage that we didn't get to send out one not one Christmas card of no importance.

Dorothy Branch reports that the Branch-Cheshier holiday get-together will be the weekend after Christmas, so families can stay longer.

It's 36 years of happy anniversary parties for Donald and Linda Kay this December 24. Happy holidays to you!

Ending the year, let the world know you are still alive. Write RR 3 Box 222-A, Pauls Valley, OK 73075 or call the numbers 405-207-3268, 405-207-1691 or try 405-206-7495.

Crystal and Andrew Perry and children were seen Christmas shopping at Pauls Walley World, Stan Hunt and family were seen leaving as the Al Hunt family was arriving. It's beginning to look a lot like Christmas.

The Hunt brothers and sisters, children and grandchildren had their Christmas get together December 17 in the Stan Hunt home with 22 on hand having a wonderful time. Snowballs were passed out by the Owl Man.

here's hoping you have a great holiday. This is the Owl Man saying this is be kind to "Susie Abney, and Debbie House" week. Spending their first Christmas without mom.

Now, we were talking about the cold. On that rise as you enter mainstream Wallville off on the right sat the Wallville Free Holiness Church. At times when that December-January north wind blew, that church parking lot was the coldest, most desolate place in the world. A typical example was that night after church when everyone had said there good nights and goodbyes. I was having trouble getting my old Ford to bust off. My family and the Bill Donaho family were the only human life left on that cold and barren parking lot. Bill no doubt lingered because he had been in that same predicament and knew what we were going through. We were having trouble with the carburetor with the hood raised and the cold north wind blowing 90 to nothing we worked. We'd pour gas in the carburetor, it would choke and spit and then shoot out fire and brimstone. We'd jump back and say whoa. Thirty minutes later we were still fussing with that thing and we were froze from our nose to our toes. I finally told Bill to go, I knew he was frozen out and he must have been because he took me up on it. Just when I was about ready to throw up my hands and give up and my wife pumping the gas pedal like crazy, it busted off. We did a little jig in jubilation and headed off down the Wallville Road.

The water sprayed up and the sun was just right to make a rainbow of all pastel colors. I wish you could see it. Dear Santa, Hi I'm Maverick, I am only one and a half months old. Everyone keeps saying I look like my big brother Parker. Whatever you want to bring me I would like. Musical toys are something I will start enjoying pretty soon though. Next year I will have a bigger list for you Santa.

Luke 2:11-14; For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord. And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger. And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.
